COVERS

The standard material used for covers is marine-grade Sunbrella. Furniture covers are form fitting with some looseness for ease of placement and removal. Where necessary, zippers are placed in the center of the rear panels to facilitate placement and removal. Zippers have an outer storm flap and an inner flap to shield furniture from abrasion.

Covers for chairs, benches, settees and the like typically have elasticized Velcro fasteners to hold covers firmly in place.

Table covers are secured under perimeter overhangs with individual flaps that part for placement and removal of covers. When in place, the overhang flaps are secured with Velcro. For tables with umbrella hole, a Velcro slit opens around the umbrella pole for placement and removal of the cover with the umbrella in place.

Important: The Weatherend Yacht Finish continues to fully cure and harden 60 to 90 days after application to reach its maximum durability. For this reason we do not recommend using your furniture covers for the first 60 days after delivery for light colors and 90 days after delivery for dark colors. When applying covers, tightly secure them to prevent chafing of the finish, especially in windy conditions. Touch up kits are provided should any chafing of the finish occur.
